Oliver Harvey Super Grip Birkenstock Shoes

Treasured by chefs for years, ‘birkies’ are often seen as the most comfortable and long lasting chefs shoe available. Meanwhile the cork footbed is soft, shock absorbing and ergonomically formed to the contours of your foot.

Dual Density Insoles

We've all got slightly different feet. So a shoe that fits one person like a glove won't feel half as comfortable to another. Especially at the end of a 12 hour shift.

Our research with the University of Salford showed the contact made between the bottom of our feet and the inside of our shoe is the game changer. The greater the contact, the less the pressure, the less the discomfort.

That's why our new range of shoes offer chefs, kitchen workers and front of house staff a choice of three removable insoles, designed to complement the natural curve of their feet and providing soft, medium or firm support. Maximising contact in areas that need it, without compromising comfort in the areas that don't.
